

We Are In Stage 3 Water Restrictions

This means each household has one day a week to water!

With summer heating up, it's important to conserve your water and monitor how it's being used for yourself and our community in the future. Block House MUD follows its water supplier, the City of Cedar Park, for watering schedule and restrictions. Make sure to follow your watering days on the table below and visit cedarparktexas.gov to learn more.

For more tips on saving water, visit the Texas Water Development Board website for helpful guides on efficient water use.

Three Tips for Back to School

Leander ISD's first day of school is on August 16 and we know how stressful the transition for you and your child can be. Check out our tips on how to prepare and plan ahead.

Start Your Back-to-School Shopping Early: Shopping for school supplies can be time-consuming, which is why we recommend starting now and setting your budget to avoid overspending. Bringing your child along with you as well will help get them excited for school and use their new supplies!

Set a Bedtime Routine: Summer is a time for late nights but as the school season approaches, it's a good idea to start getting your kids used to waking up early. Try switching your family's routine around two weeks before school starts to make earlier wakeup times a little easier.

Plan Ahead: Organization can help make the transition to school more smooth and less chaotic. Planning out the upcoming months with a calendar can provide balance and routine for your family. It can also help your child visualize what the year will look like.
